We will provide the replacement cost of new item(s) up to the total scheduled limit for that specific collection class.

Pair-and-Set Clause

We will provide the full amount for a pair or set of jewelry or art, in the event of a loss. An agreement to surrender remaining part(s) to Vault is required for this coverage.

Worldwide Coverage

Vault provides coverage anywhere in the world.

Vaulted Jewelry Option

Vault offers reduced and competitive rates for rarely worn jewelry kept in a bank vault or safety deposit box.

Discounted Pricing with Updated Appraisals

Vault provides a premium discount for those who keep updated appraisals on their scheduled valuables. And we are happy to recommend qualified local appraisers for such regular assessments.

BASED ON A TRUE STORY

While shopping, a customer lost a "cursed" ring which cost $443k to replace.

Most jewelry claims are "mysterious disappearances," where a piece of jewelry suddenly goes missing, or a piece in a set. Even the best intentions, like proper safekeeping of heirlooms and one-of-a-kind pieces, go to waste when conscious wear and necessary maintenance slip.

The devastating loss of an heirloom could be mitigated with simple care steps:

A jewelry maintenance plan, including regular valuation, appraisals, inspections and cleaning, as well as proper storage and mindful wear.

Diane* bought a 12ct diamond ring at an auction and secured it in a bank vault for years.

The ring had a bit of an unusual history. It had belonged to a well-known lawyer who was caught in a Ponzi scheme. His wife had refused to give up the ring until her arrest.

Diane kept the ring secured at a bank for years and insured through Vault. But one day she decided to take it from the bank safe and wear it out shopping.

While shopping, the large centerpiece diamond fell out and was lost. Two Vault adjusters went back to retrace her steps and look for the 12ct diamond. But in the end, the diamond remained lost.

Because of this stroke of bad luck upon wearing the ring for the first time, Diane came to believe the ring was cursed because of its history.

In reality, the ring had not been maintained during those years in storage, and probably prior. Diane hadn't realized she should have had the ring inspected before wearing it out.

Vault helped Diane set up a jewelry maintenance plan for her other pieces, and provided replacement cost payment for the lost ring.

BASED ON A TRUE STORY

"My wife lost one earring while at a luncheon club event. I notified Vault, got an estimate for the replacement earring from the jeweler who sold me the original pair, and we were reimbursed by Vault all within about a two week period. The process was easy, quick, and painless and required no "follow-up" or "prodding" calls or emails. I am very happy and completely satisfied with the results and the overall claims experience."
